Friends,

I regret to have to tell you that Haifan Baha'is, duped into believing in the fraudulent will and testament, continue to harass Reform Bahais and people of other Baha'i denominations. Having been indoctrinated through taqqiya (lying to so-called infidels) into taqlid (blind obedience), they have failed to investigate the actual history of the Faith under Abdul-Baha, during the 1910s, merely accepting at face value the deceptions of Shoghi Effendi, from 1921 on, in conformance with their indoctrination in the isolated Haifan Baha'i communities, into what's actually become a fanatical cult that has sucked in all too many unsuspecting Americans and others of otherwise good but naive faith. We must love them and understand what a formidable challenge faces the average Haifan Baha'i, indoctrinated into the exclusivism of an authoritarian theocracy.

Haifan Baha'is have reportedly been infiltrating and disrupting Reform Bahai meetings introducing seekers to the Reform Bahai Faith, as well as other religious meetings where the Reform Bahai Faith has participated. Similar to the tactics used for years against people on the discussion group talk.religion.bahai and elsewhere, character assassination and aspersions have been used to harass and discredit Bahais of other conscience. Through using fake identities, another classic Shiite tactic, they have been spreading rumors and backbiting Reform Bahais and others with the generally innocent and uninformed public. To the extent that the general public is informed, it usually does, of course, rely on the censored and distorted accounts of Bahai history found in the vetted publications of the Haifan interpretation, which entirely suppress and rewrite much of Abdul-Baha's key interpretations during the 1910s.

Also, Haifan fanatics have shown up in forums in which they have no expertise whatsoever, yet have not restrain themselves from casting their religious hatred and bigotry against Reform Bahais who were and are professionally trained and educated in studies about which the Haifans clearly didn't have the slightest clue. (Regardless of religion, everything becomes an opportunity for propaganda for the brainwashed cult member!) What we're really witnessing, as one of Juan Cole's brilliant articles makes so clear, is the corrupt, degraded values of the Iranian bazaar playing out in the "theocracy" of Haifa, Israel and Wilmette, Illinois. Juan Cole, "The Evolution of Charismatic Authority in the Baha'i Faith (1863-1921)," in Robert Gleave, ed., Religion and Society in Qajar Iran (London: RoutledgeCurzon, 2005), pp. 311-345. [Important article not available online.] I mention in this connection Professor Cole's biography online at his blog <http://www.juancole.com/about/toward-authorized-biography> Just search for "baha" to skim or read the relevant passages relating to the similar Wilmette Baha'i harassment and deception which he experienced.

There are also new and extensive reports of computer hacking and surveillance by Haifan fanatics who have no "standards" or integrity to restrain them from such practices, on Facebook and other social networks, having relinquished such qualities upon signing some dubious "card," i.e., their brain away, essentially. What a sad spectacle for Americans to sink to such a low level of fanaticism that they don't even realize it.

Please be on your guard. If you are unfamiliar with the kinds of things that have been perpetrated by Haifan Baha'is online during the last decade and a half, read or skim around on The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience <http://www.fglaysheer.com/bahaicensorship>

Take particular note of the fact that attempts were even made to smear other Bahai denominations with the U. S. Federal Courts, which wisely perceived the motives of the Wilmette Baha'is and ruled against them on THREE separate occasions. Further details at the link above.

The Middle East may have the Taliban, but it's beginning to look like America has the Haifan Baha'is, and their FRAUDULENT will and testament to deal with. Since they shamelessly follow Machiavelli, invoking his name with glee, at times, there's no level, apparently, to which they might sink, or haven't already. This is has long been apparent especially in terms of the extent to which Haifans are willing to attempt to rewrite history, one of the surest signs of fanatical despots, secular or religious. For instance, of course, the classic case for Reform Bahais is the treatment of Ruth White, Julie Chandler, and Ahmad Sohrab. See their books on the Bahai Writings page at reformbahai.org One of the more recent instances would be the attack against the extensive discussions by Bahais of various denominations on The Chicago Tribune Topix site and its eventual deletion from the Internet, etc., which Orthodox Baha'is, among others, believed the Haifans had conspired to bring about. http://www.fglaysheer.com/bahaicensorship/Chicago_Tribune.html

A further caveat is necessary. At times it is clear that some computer hacking is coming from Middle Eastern countries, apparently done by fanatical Iranian Muslims and others, though it could, too, be by Haifan Baha'is. So please don't misunderstand me into thinking that Haifan Baha'is are the only fanatics that Reform Bahais need to be ALERT about... people of ill-will learn from one another, and, apparently, share much the same mentality, as well as tactics.

"To be a Bahai simply means to love all the world; to love humanity and try to serve it; to work for universal peace and universal brotherhood." —Abdul-Baha
